Dear Cousins:

I wish to dedicate this book to the memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Mary E. Clough Pratt, and my grandfather, Elijah Clough, and his wife, Ann Eliza Chamberlin Clough, in whose home I spent so many pleasant hours in my early life.

I also hope that we cousins who are now left as we read this book may have a greater interest in each other. We are from one family and are descended from those who loved each other, and we ought to foster a feeling of kinship, if for no other reason, in memory of those who have gone on before, and whom we trust to meet in a better land.

This is my first attempt at anything of the kind, and no doubt you will find mistakes of my making. I have done the best I could. Some of you have been very helpful, for which I wish to thank you, and others have not answered my requests for names and dates (You may not have received my communication, or I had a wrong address), but it has not been my intention to leave any one related out of this book.

Sincerely yours,

Anna E. Pratt Armstrong

CLOUGH-- HISTORY-- IN-- ENGLAND --AND-- WALES.

(From Burk's History of the Commoners, Vol.3, page 515)

The word "Clough" according to Dr. Johnson and other lexicographers is a Norman word signifying "a valley between two hills". The Arms are printed in the above book.

The family, as its name and arms signify, is of Norman origin and deduces from the lords of Rohan in the dukedom. Its first settlement in England appears by an ancient deed from the Whalley Cartulary, date 1315. In Wales the first settler was Richard Clough, commonly called "Hen" or "the Old" from having lived during the reigns of Henry VII and VIII, Edward VI, and James, Mary, and Elizabeth.

In the Haverhill, Mass. library in a book entitled "North Wales Pedigree" it is stated that Richard married in the time of Henry VIII and settled on Lawene Green near Denbigh, and had five sons and one daughter. Sir Richard Clough (2) son of Richard (1) (both knights), eminent merchant, erected the Royal Exchange in 1567, and built on his paternal estate the mansion of Plas Clough which is still in the possession of his descendants. He had one son by his first wife, who became his heir, and two daughters by his second wife. Sir Richard (2) was knighted on his return from Jerusalem. He died in Antwerp in 1570, and was interred with the exception of his hand and heart which he desired transmitted in a silver urn, to be deposited on the coffin of the last possessor of his property. Sir Richard (2) gave a mansion to each of his two daughters. He was agent for Queen Elizabeth, and made many trips to the Continent on business.

RICHARD (3) --Richard 2,1.

WILLIAM (4) --Richard 3,2,1.

JOHN (5) -- William 4, Richard 3,2,1.

HUGH (6) -- John 5, William 4, Richard 3,2,1. Hugh was born in 1679.

Daughter Anne was grandmother of Sir Edward Bryoe, created in 1831 Lord Moslyn.

HUGH (7) --Hugh 6, John 5, William 4, Richard 3, 2, 1, --high sheriff of Denbshire, born 1709.
 RICHARD (8) --Hugh 7, 6, John 5, William 4, Richard 3, 2, 1--heir of his father.
 THOMAS (8)-- Hugh 7, 6, John 5, William 4, Richard 3, 2, 1--rector of Denbeh.
 ROGER (8)--Hugh 7, 6, (etc. as above), born 1759, Canon of St. Asaps, rector of Lansanion, Denbigh; married Anne Jemima, dau, of James Butler.
 JAMES (9)-Richard 8, Hugh 7, 6, etc.--born 1784, residence Liverpool, England. He was a cotton merchant.
 ARTHUR HUGH (10)--James 9, Richard 8, Hugh 7, 6, etc--was the English poet. He died in 1861, was born in Liverpool, England, was educated at Oxford, was tutor of Orvill College, traveled much. He was head of University Hall, London, 1849-1852, and was in the U.S. for some time and in Charleston, S. Car., but returned to England and died there. He died in 1861.

Marsh is the name of an ancient family in Haverhill, whose descendants have gone to every part of the world. George Marsh was admitted a freeman of Massachusetts Colony in 1635, and settled in Higham, Mass. His son, Onesiphorus 2, settled in Haverhill within ten years of its first settlement. John Page and Daniel Bradley were among the first settlers in Haverhill,

On August 13, 1689, Daniel Bradley was slain by the Indians on the Parsonage Barn Road, not far from the Atkison depot. The list of the slain at that date was Daniel Bradley, his wife, Hannah, and children, Mary and Hannah. (Some authorities give the name, Mary Bradley, instead of Hannah).

Ephraim's son, Amasa, returned to Belchertown from Washington County, town of Hebron, N.Y. State, and received a deed of his father's farm 1796, agreeing to support Ephraim and wife Mary for the rest of their lives.

Jonathan Clough settled near what is now known as Belcher, in the town of Hebron, Washington Co., New York, on what is now known as the Isaac Oatman farm. It is most probable that not a stick of timber had been cut from his land when he came. There was no church or school, and they were miles from a gristmill. His father-in-law, William Cossett, was one of the men who had an interest in Kemp's Patent which covered the land settled. Jonathan Clough is found in the Census of 1800 in Hebron, N.Y. but not in the 1810 Census. We believe that Jonathan had two wives as on an adjoining farm is an old graveyard in which we found a stone marked-- Mrs. Abigail Clough, aged 60, dated Febr. 1813. There is another stone like Abigail's broken off, and unreadable. He also had several children, one of whom is believed to have changed his name from Clough to Clow.

The
CHAMBERLIN
Family

THE CHAMBERLINS IN ENGLAND

WILLIAM COUNT PAUKERVILLE of Paukerville Castle in Normandy was the progenitor of the Chamberlin family in England and America. He came with William, the Conqueror, and though he returned to Normandy himself, his sons and descendants remained in England and occupied the land granted to them. De Paukerville, son of the former Earl, was Lord Chamberlin to king Henry I, and assumed his title as surname. Richard Chamberlin, son of John, was also Chamberlin to King Stephen and the surname, Chamberlin, since his day has been that of the family. William, son of Richard; Robert, son of William; Sir Richard, son of Robert; Sir Robert, son of Richard; Sir John, son of Robert--so the line continues in England.

THE HAGERMAN FAMILY.

Elizabeth Hagerman, wife of Andrew Chamberlin 7, the records show, is of Dutch ancestry. History tells us there is a little doubt as to the home in Europe of the Hagermans, whether it was Germany or Holland. The emigrant ancestor sailed from Holland, married a Dutch wife and had children baptised in the Dutch Reformed Church, and the name was accepted as Dutch.

SAY NOT THE STRUGGLE NAUGHT AVAILETH

Say not the struggle naught availeth,
The labor and the wounds are vain,
The enemy faints not, nor faileth,
And as things have been, they remain.

If hopes were dupes, fears may be liars;
It may be, in yon smoke concealed,
Your comrades chase e'en now the fliers,
And, but for you, possess the field.

For while the tired waves, vainly breaking,
Seem here no painful inch to gain,
Far back, through creeks and inlets making,
Comes silent, flooding in, the main.

And not by eastern windows only,
When daylight comes, comes in the light;
In front, the sun climbs slow, how slowly,
But westward, look, the land is bright!

WHERE LIES THE LAND?

Where lies the land to which the ship would go?
Far, far ahead, is all her seamen know.
And where the land she travels from? Away,
Far, far behind, is all that they can say.

On sunny noons upon the deck's smooth face,
Linked arm in arm, how pleasant here to pace!
Or, o'er the stern reclining, watch below
The foaming wake far widening as we go.

On stormy nights when wild northwesterners rave,
How proud a thing to fight with wind and wave!
The dripping sailor on the reeling mast,
Exults to bear and scorns to wish it past.

Where lies the land to which the ship would go?
Far, far ahead, is all her seamen know.
And where the land she travels from? Away,
Far, far behind, is all that they can say.

(Poems by Arthur Hugh Clough, English poet, continued)

WITH WHOM IS NO VARIABLENESS,
NEITHER SHADOW OF TURNING.

It fortifies my soul to know
That though I perish, truth is so;
That, howsoe'er I stray and range,
Whate'er I do, Thou dost not change.
I steadier step when I recall
That, if I slip, Thou dost not fall.

Thou shalt have one God only; who
Would be at the expense of two?

No graven images may be
Worship'd, except the currency:

Swear not at all; for, for thy curse
Thine enemy is none the worse:

At church on Sunday to attend
Will serve to keep the world thy friend:

Honour thy parents; that is, all
From whom advancement may befall:

Thou shalt not kill; but needst not strive
Officiously to keep alive:

Do not adultery commit;
Advantage rarely comes of it:

Thou shalt not steal; an empty feat,
Where 'tis so lucrative to cheat:

Bear not false witness; let the lie
Have time on its own wings to fly:

Thou shalt not covet; but tradition
Approves all forms of competition.
